

BLINC Quarterly Report, July 2007

BLINC had a very successful May quarterly meeting at Appalachian State University in Boone with 24 people attending from throughout the state. We had four new attendees from the public libraries around the area. After a brief general meeting, we had presenters from SCORE, Small Business Technical and Development Center, and from the Center for Entrepreneurial Studies at App. State. We talked about what small business clients need from us, how these organizations help clients, and how we can all work together. Some great ideas and plans came from these presentations.

BLINC will hold its first pre-conference this coming year, as well as hosting 3 and co-hosting 2 additional programs.

Our next meeting will be in August to prepare for our pre-conference, but location has not been decided yet.
